

Productdescription

All our products are produced on highest level. It starts with an careful choice of our raw material, which are tested by our laboratory technicians after delivery. It ends with the processing, effected under the best hygienics- and food standards.

The whole processing is controlled and recorded by computer. The produced mixtures are immediately filled in multilayered paper bags (with an internal polyethylene coating) and clotted.

The mixtures aren't loaded until one bag of each mixture is decontrolled from our laboratory.

Between processing and delivery the ready products are stored in an air-conditioned, computer controlled high rack storage area.

All our products (none are conserved) and ingredients can be tracked by our continuous record system.
